INFORMED CONSENT

The following information is for your benefit so you can enter a cooperative counseling partnership in an informed manner. Counseling is a helping relationship for which you are voluntarily entering for assistance with specific and stated problems. It is expected that you will benefit from your counselor relationship, but there are no guarantees that you will. Keep in mind that it is common to feel worse before feeling better. It is also expected that the counseling relationship should end through mutual agreement once desired goals have been reached; however, you have the right to terminate counseling at any time. Understand that you have the right to refuse any recommended services, and to be advised of the consequences of that refusal.

CONFIDENTIALITY

Legal Confidentiality

By law, the counselor considers all information and issues presented in the course of counseling as privileged and confidential. Confidential information may be released only with the written consent of the person being treated or that person's legal guardian. State law also requires the release of confidential information under the following conditions:

1. The client threatens suicide.
2. The client threatens harm to another person(s), including murder, assault, or other physical harm.
3. The client is a minor (under age 18) and reports suspected child abuse, including but not limited to, physical beatings, and sexual abuse.
4. The client reports abuse of the elderly.
5. The client reports sexual exploitation by a counselor.

In addition, in certain circumstances, a judge may require court-ordered counseling records, a deposition or testimony from a counselor. The contemplation, commission of a crime or harmful act is not considered confidential communication.

Consultation and Professional Training

In accordance with ethical standards, the counselor is required to participate in direct supervision. The counselor requires your consent to obtain professional supervision or collegial consultation outside our ministry when he/she feels it will facilitate the work with you/your family. Your name and any uniquely identifying information about you/your family will be deleted or changed to protect your identity. Your signature on this form indicates your consent. Please let your counselor know if you are withholding consent.

Professional Records

The laws and standards of counseling require the keeping of case records. Records are locked and kept on site. You are entitled to receive a copy of your records or a summary of your care if you make a written request. These request forms for the summary of your care are available to you. Please note that these are professionally-held records and can be misinterpreted and/or upsetting to untrained readers. If you wish to see your records it is recommended that you review them with your counselor so that the contents can be discussed. You have the right to amend your record, if you find something disagreeable or concerning. Your record will NOT be disclosed to others unless you ask the counselor to do so in writing, or unless the law compels the counselor to do so. Communications between the counselor and client will otherwise be deemed privileged and confidential as stated under the laws of this state. You will be charged an appropriate fee for any professional time spent in responding to your request for information. Meetings will be scheduled at mutually convenient times.
